Dear Dancers

We have a very special celebratory feature this month. Line dance household names, Peter and Alison, tell us how much they are still a winning team after 20 years together. Peter and Alison tell us their secret to success in a special and exclusive interview.

Barry and Darri Anne Amato share with us an amazing experience that helped to make happen for a group of dancers recently. The American Dream Tour celebrates dance from all corners of the world.

Rising star Tom Tyler, whose sound has a strong emphasis on indie folk, chats to Linedancer about his new release and how he would love to have a Line dance hit.

We are continuing our series of choreographer profiles with an all time favourite, Tell Me More - Marie Sorenson. Marie tells us about some of the benefits she found from Line dance.

A new name in Nashville, Marlee Scott, is already making an impact with her new album, Beautiful Maybe. Marlee is described as having a sound reminiscent of Shania.

If you weren't lucky enough to attend the week long, Line dance holiday in Salou organised by our own Betty Drummond and Steve Healy, then you can read about what went on (or at least the printable bits) in the feature, Tulips From Salou. With special guest Ria Vos and each evening having a different theme, the week was action packed.

An event organised in celebration of the life of Carmen Mah is reported in, Celebrate Dance-In Memory Of Carmen Mah. Carmen was a well-known instructor and dancer who sadly passed away at the age of 54.

Two young sisters, Diana and Evelyne Fievet, collaborated on one of Mirande Country Festivals choreography competition winning dances, Country Girls. We find out more about these budding choreographers.

Stepping Back 20 years ago ...

P19-21

Line dancers can't help but feel an infinity for the Wild West, so Linedancer visited a stomper's paradise, the Magnificent Seven Wild West Spectacular at The Royal Armouries Museum in Leeds. Spectators were treated to a fantastic show featuring wagon trains, sharpshooting, trick riding and lots of cowboys and Indians.

P23

Usually not one to hold back, Rob Fowler is always fascinating to talk to but when Linedancer spoke to him about his latest venture, he was keeping his cards very close to his chest. We were determined to find out about the new Masters In Line but all Rob would tell us was, "It is the best in Line dance instruction, choreography and competition but with a different slant."

P24-25

Never Love Her Enough, is the new album from singer Chely Wright. Chely told Linedancer, "I always write throughout the year. Writing is something I'd do whether I'm going to record them or not."

P30-31

We interview Scooter Lee about her new album release, which is an exiting, ground-breaking album of new Country music. Scooter told us what was different about this album, "The new album is called 'Steppin' Out' because I am stepping out my comfort zone. I call it the 'dancer's bubble'."

P40-41

Having been the centre of attention at many events organised by others, Maggie Gallagher felt the pressure of hosting her own weekend experience. The Maggie G Experience was an appropriate name for the Line dance festival and Maggie gave us the lowdown.

Planning Ahead

Dozens of dancers filled the Memorial Hall at Finchampstead in Berkshire and everyone had a brilliant time at a recent social. £580 was raised for Help for Heroes. "This is the third year that the event has been run," said Naomi Beswick. "Nibbles were provided and there was dancing all night. The organiser, Irene Fruin, would like to thank all who attended, helped and donated their time on the evening. The next one is already being planned."

Across The Miles

Lauren Dusty Boots from Spain was recently visited by the lovely choreographer Esmeralda, who lives and teaches in Holland. Whilst here she has been teaching her new dance called 'Saved My Soul'. Esmeralda started Line dancing over six years ago and has been teaching for two and a half years. She loves to visit other clubs, among them being 'Double YouBDancers' run by Will Bos and wife Audrey, Billy Van Williams Benidorm Oprey, also the Hotel Ambassador with Paula and the Red Dog Saloon. Esmeralda says: "I had a wonderful time and would especially like to thank all my friends in Benidorm and especially my dance group in Holland for their support."

Late Summer Social

Winterton-on-Sea was the venue for a weekend hosted by, newlyweds Mr & Mrs Palmer (Andrew and Sheila) and Ros and George Chaplin. Friday evening started with music from Chris Mezza who played old, new, country and popular. The Saturday morning workshop was well supported and a variety of dance levels were taught. The dancers then had time to enjoy their surroundings and take in the sunshine. Maybe the hottest October weekend in decades. Pedro was the Artist for Saturday evening. The Grand Draw was run with the prize being a complimentary place on the 2012 event. Sunday's workshop got into full swing with recaps of the Saturday dances and a couple of fresh teaches. Sunday evening was a request night with the A&S Disco. Next year they do it all again, starting on the 28th September.

OOOPS! A note from Laurent:

Apologies are in order. In my recent "last Line" I mentioned John King as I wanted to thank him for all the fantastic effort he puts in on behalf of the LDF and by error, named him as John Hill... Don't quite know why, though he tells me this is one mistake that happens often! In any case, King by name, King by nature so I hope John can forgive this little mistake. The main fact however was TRUE. John is a great supporter of both the magazine and the LDF and has been for a long time. So thank you once again!

Rosemarie's Dancers

£135 was raised for Breast Cancer Care at a recent Line dance social held by Rosemarie's Dancers from Shefford in Bedfordshire. Rosemarie told us: "I am so proud of the Group. We have raised the amazing amount of £21,920 for various charities over the years."

First Of Many

Paul O'Connor held a social at Lydiat parish hall in September. "I did it for breast cancer and raised £200.50," he told us. "I also held a raffle and Irish bingo and this was well supported by six different classes of all levels from Beginner to Advanced and we did just over 50 dances. It was my first social and I will definitely be doing another."

Sun Dance

Dzintra Rozite from Latvia has sent some wonderful photo's of the Latvia Children Classic Line dance championships, that took place in July in a small town called Roja.

"There were 80 competitors, aged 3-18," she told us. "We organised the awards ceremony near the sea and we all had a wonderful time dancing in the sunshine."

Dixie Kickers On Tour

"I would just like to let you know what a brilliant time we had in the Isle of Wight," Denise Nicholls writes. "24 of us turned up on a glorious sunny day to a lovely welcome from the IOW Tours rep Julie who was fantastic throughout our stay. Friday night we turned up in our Dixie Kickers 'on tour t-shirts' and danced to Lass Vegas they kept us dancing all night with Kim Dove instructor/Dj. Saturday night's theme was Royalty so we dressed in Sash's and Tiaras, the men in our group wore a cumberband and we all danced away to Richard Palmer, who again was brilliant.

Sunday we were just ourselves and danced to Johnny Holland. We had such a good weekend we have already booked for next year, a special thanks to IOW Tours nothing was too much trouble and they were on hand all weekend."

Simply Divine

"My Line dance club, Divine Line dancers recently presented a cheque for £500 to the representative of our local wonderful St. Helena Hospice in Colchester," Diane Richards told us. "Over the past 22 years we have raised £22,000 for local charities by dancing in our Stetsons and boots, in various venues like so many other Line dancers do. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the team for their loyal support and the lasses for the raffles and happy times we have all had over the past years and hope to continue until we drop. Your magazine is well read and enjoyed."

Schools Out

Angela Underwood would like to say a big thank you to Julie Burr of Five Star Liners. "Once again we all had a fantastic time on our annual Line dance weekend in Bournemouth. We all know and appreciate how much hard work goes into organising these weekends. This year the theme for our Saturday night dance was Back To School and for some of the members, school was a very long time ago. We even had our own lollipop man (Maurice our coach driver). We had a raffle and this year the proceeds went to Macmillan in remembrance of one of our members, Linda, who died earlier this year. We were able to raise £74. If there are any people who visit the Staunton & Corse or the Bredon areas please do get in touch with Julie as we have some really enjoyable classes."

Dancing For Children

A recent Line dance event in aid of The Lennox Children's Fund held at Bexhill Amateur Athletic Club in East Sussex. Patti told us: "Everyone had a fabulous evening and it was a great success." The terrifically talented Billy Curtis, international singer and guitarist travelled up from Exeter to perform and Pat Day was the DJ for the evening. Pat played CD's for all the popular dances as well as teaching the non-dancers so that they could join in the fun. There were large raffle donations from the Line dancers and local businesses. The evening raised £634 which will be matched by BUPA, bringing the total to £1,268. Patti said: "I would like to thank everyone for their support and all the hard work and generosity to this well deserved charity."

Thank you

I am always excited when my monthly Linedancer drops on the mat but when a mystery package came for me from you, I was thrilled. I received the Shane Yellowbird CD, 'It's About Time'. It was a real change to listen to some country music. My favourite tracks are, 'I Can Help You With That', 'My Kind Of Crowd' and 'Sedona Arizona'. Thanks for making my day.

CWC Search

I thought it may be interesting and also fun to start a search for the longest running CWC's (Country & Western Clubs) in the UK. A local club, The Ranch House CWC, located on the road between Stokesley and Hutton Rudby in North Yorkshire, meet on a Saturday night. As well as a warm welcome there is another surprise inside the walls of this unassuming single story building. The Ranch House claims to be the longest continuously running CWC in the North East. Started back in 1973 the club has survived numerous changes in country music styles and it still fills up each Saturday night. The club made welcome some visitors from San Antonio who said that it made them feel as though they were back home in Texas. Are there any clubs who have been running for longer than the Ranch House?

David Baird

To Listen Or Not To Listen

At a recent class we were about to do 'The Flute'. I was reminding them about the restarts, I said 'the music fades out as you come to the restart' one of the ladies in the class called out 'you'll have to tell us, I'm too busy dancing to listen to the music!' We all fell about laughing as her words sunk in. I must admit I have felt like that myself when concentrating on a new dance but all in all, I am a listener, I hear the words in the songs, some are good, some bad, some shouldn't have made it to a public platform, best of all for me, is 'Country'. Most of the songs tell a story, they have a beginning, a middle and an end and some writers are the most marvellous wordsmiths for 'simple' country boys as they portray themselves.

Mike Brockham

Etiquette

I wondered if it was possible to print the dance floor etiquette once again. I have had a problem in class with a small group being really noisy while I was teaching and they also had an attitude when asked to tone it down. I decided to place a copy of the etiquette on public view in the club and at first, it did seem to do the trick. However, later, a few from that group decided to take it upon themselves to have a real go saying they will not be told what to do by anyone. They seem to think that I invented the etiquette even though one dancer has been in this club for about seven years. Can you help?

Anonymous

Note from Ed:

Sorry to read these lines. It always surprises me to hear that a few can disrupt the enjoyment of so many. That is one of the reasons the etiquette is still valid and so important really. You don't tell us how your other dancers react to this constant distraction and I can only imagine this will distress them too. The real danger is that this small group may very well discourage a greater number of dancers eventually. If all else fails, don't forget you too can ask people to leave and this may be the sad and ultimate answer in your case.

You can find the etiquette at www.linedancermagazine.com/etiquette.html

Rhinestone Mondays

I was happily reading my latest mag until I came across Between the Lines talking about Rhinestone Mondays which had such good reviews. I had booked the show in Dartford taking 34 of my class to see it only to have been told this week that the producers were pulling out due to, I guess, lack of funding and said it was always risky putting on an unknown show. We are all SO disappointed as you can imagine. Just thought I would let you know. Thanks for keeping up such an informative mag, as an instructor it's my bible!

Julie Curd

Having seen Rhinestone Mondays advertised in Dartford and again in your magazine, I arranged a Tuesday night outing for my Line dance class. Twenty tickets were purchased and we were looking forward to an enjoyable evening. I received a letter telling me the show has been cancelled. Reading the letters in Linedancer magazine, praising the show and stating full houses. I am even more disappointed that this has happened and feel that the reasons given ("prevailing economic conditions") do not ring true. I am sure there are a lot of disappointed punters out there.

June Crowe
B&J Stompers

Note from Ed:

Unfortunately we have heard that the organisers of the show, Rhinestone Mondays, have had to cancel the remaining dates.

The world over, Peter and Alison are definitely THE Line dance couple, two names that are forever united in dance culture. 2011 is their twentieth year together and it has been (and continues to be) an amazing journey for the pair. In this special and exclusive interview with Laurent, they both talk candidly together as well as separately on their lives together so far.

When you first meet Peter and Alison, you cannot help but be impressed. If there is one golden couple of Line dance they are it.

With thousands of travelling hours between them each year, tens of places they visit, a huge fan base and hundreds of well known dances to their name, it is little wonder their combined names have come to represent the very best that Line dance has to offer the world over. Success however is not a given and the road has been long and not without bumps for the pair.

Both, as is often the case, discovered Line dance purely by accident. Alison used to teach aerobics and one of her ladies introduced her to the then new hobby. She says:

"The more she tried to explain what it was, the more intrigued I became. I just had to go along to a class and the rest is history." Peter's journey started in 1990. He says: "I was working for the City of London in Canada in Senior Services and one of the programs available for seniors was Line dancing." After the seniors showed interest, Peter was asked to teach the class temporarily. He laughs: "I certainly did not realise that I would still be teaching 20 years later..."

Though he was unprepared, Line dance soon started to spill over into his personal life in a big way. "There I was, starting with a couple of hours a week and I ended up with regular teaches in a country bar three nights a week, teaching evening adult education classes, forming dance teams....It just took over!"

Alison, always a perfectionist, took a few lessons and decided to teach. "I knew that the level of the teachers then was not great, I had become hooked and wanted to do the very best I could.

It became a major part of my life." She adds with a smile, "Still is."

They both agree that the passion has not only lasted but developed in what Line dancers know today. Peter says: "Line dance? It is our life. Pure and simple. It is our profession but it is also our passion. A lot has changed over the years but never ever our passion." Alison agrees: "Line dance took our lives in a new direction. It has improved me as a person and has given me opportunities to meet people and see the world." Peter adds: "We are so blessed to be able to earn our living at something we both love doing so much. Amazing."

When I ask both about the highs and lows of being a couple on and off the dance floor, they are honest. Peter says: "Look, it has been all good." He glances at Alison and they both crack up. He then adds, still laughing: "Ok, Ok.... Mostly." She says: "Looking back, I think we argued more in the early years really when we were touring around the UK. Peter was navigating, I was driving and we kept getting lost. It was a frustrating time but now with age and experience things change for the better." She pauses.

Peter and Alison

"And Satellite navigation has improved considerably too."

Peter says: "Having a partner in the same profession is good. It helps when things go mad. When it all gets too hectic, somehow you feel more grounded with the person you love next to you. All in all being together has made us both stronger." Alison admits: "These days the lows tend to come from outside sources more than in house. It does not really affect us as a couple, though individually it can still be testing at times."

So does the best known Line dance couple ever disagree? Alison says: "Of course we do. But Peter and I get along very well so disagreements are minimal. I try not to get too uptight about things, life's too short. Out of the two, I am the optimist and because we are both so different, it works well, WE work well. We have a lot of love and respect for one another and that is paramount in any relationship."

Peter knows the secret of their success. To him it is a two word explanation. "Hard Work". He says: "Look, there is no getting away from hard work. Classes, choreography, workshops and weekends are hard work and the toughest thing is to make it all happen effortlessly and easily and I believe that is what we do best."

He is right. Peter and Alison are known throughout the world, they are bywords for Line dance excellence, always turning out terrific dances and great teaches.

Hard work is indeed the key but at the root of it, both their passion comes over as it always did.

Peter and Alison are the living proof of what talent and the undeniable love of dance and of one another can achieve. And rest assured that they will continue to reign for a long time all over the world's dance floors.

Peter

Laurent Saletto: Well, Peter, twenty years in Line dance is a long time...

Peter Metelnick: No kidding! And Line dance has certainly changed. There are so many genres of music and steps from different dance forms now.

LS: Is that a good thing?

PM: Well, what we have to remember is to keep the focus on fun and make sure lots of new dancers keep coming in. As long as that happens, you will keep Line dance a wonderful pastime.

LS: In those twenty years, what did Alison bring to the partnership?

PM: Organisation for a start! She keeps me on track and as a choreographer it is good to have someone I can bounce ideas off. When we work together, we always spark each other creatively.

LS: Do you ever fall out on a dance point...come on be honest!

PM: I would be lying if I said no. We are so passionate about dancing that automatically we have many heated exchanges about the merits of a choreography over another at times. Being part of a team means compromise but it can still get fiery on the floor. But out of those dance battles, a few successes did come out so we will keep up with the drama. It seems to work!

LS: What, or who, is to be admired in today's Line dance scene?

PM: For me, all the class teachers who continue to teach on a weekly basis and do so for years. They are the grass roots of dance. They keep Line dance alive.

LS: Yes I agree. The unspoken heroes are what Line dance is all about. Tell me, what is your best moment in this long career?

PM: Whoa...a lot to mention for sure. But I think I was most honoured to be inducted into the Linedancer Hall Of Fame and to be the first person to win both five choreographer and five instructor Crystal Boots. I would also single out being named Canadian Choreographer of The Year at the inaugural Canadian Line Dance Awards which was a very special moment.

LS: Ok, now for the new choreographer out there who might read this interview, tell me, what is the secret of the perfect dance?

PM: (laughs) Ah well.... If I knew I would not tell you. No, seriously though, you first need a great song. Then you have to craft the steps that fit the rhythm in a memorable pattern and manage to capture the mood of the music. Seems simple.... But everyone will tell you (me first) it isn't!

LS: Finally, for you and Alison, how does it feel to be more or less 24/7 on dance floors together? Is that an easy thing?

PM: I wish we could be on a dance floor 24/7 – that's the easiest part of what we do and the icing on the cake so to speak. There are all the other parts: choreography, correspondence, promotion, bookings, travel arrangements and more, that take up the bulk of the time. We work well together so there never is any major issues. I am blessed to do what I do with the woman I love by my side on and off the dance floor. Life is good!

Alison

LS: I have to ask you as I asked Peter about the 'best' moment in your career? Do you have one?

AB: I have experienced many 'best moments' in Line dancing but the top one has to be the time Peter and I received a Crystal Boot for Pirates of Dance. I have been nominated for many years in many categories and for many of our dances throughout but nothing tangible had happened until then. I was so used to being disappointed that I really didn't think we had a chance, Peter had to pull me to my feet and say to me "It's us, we've won!" I honestly didn't hear it or could believe it.

LS: So what next for you?

AB: To be honest I'm really not an ambitious person but I am very self motivated and very much a perfectionist. I am happy at what I have already achieved in life but the one thing that would mean most is my very own individual Crystal Boot. It has eluded me so far but maybe one day I will be lucky enough to receive one.

LS: What is the secret of your success? Do you have one?

AB: Oh in my eyes I don't think of myself as successful. I know I am well known in 'the dance world', but I also know that the success and the recognition for what I have done for Line dancing over the past 20 years are still yet to come. I'm still working on it.

LS: What makes the perfect dance?

AB: To me, the perfect choreography is, choreography that is inspired only by the music, choreography that hits the accents in the music and feels good to dance because the steps are just right. It is all in the feel of the steps and the music together. The music tells you what steps to create. It's really difficult to explain in words, it is just something you know and feel.

LS: Is living with someone who shares your work and your life a good thing?

AB: We may be more or less together all the time but we do also have our own moments apart. Having to run a business is a full time job but we have our own in-house offices so we are not under each other's feet. In the end, it all works out just hunky dorey, no regrets, no complaints. As Michael Montgomery sang years ago "Life is a dance...."

Laurent Saletto: In twenty years, there has been a lot of changes in Line dance. What is your take on it?

Alison Biggs: Yes Line dance has changed and I would say mostly for the better. We have all become more musically aware and with the introduction of all genres of music dancers have also become adept at all styles. With that we are able to entice the younger generation and encourage them to have the staying power to better themselves as dancers.

LS: Peter says that you really spark off each other. What do you think is the reason?

AB: Oooh! What a difficult question.... Having someone to bounce ideas off is a real asset and I do believe we work well together, most of the time. Mind you there are times when it is better we work apart and I find I often come up with my best choreography when Peter is out with the dog. But we do have differences of opinion and with me being the lesser part of the duo if you like, I do tend to give in more though I'm sure Peter wouldn't agree! There is also the man/woman thing, he likes to interpret steps a certain way whereas I want to do them another way so my answer to that is I will allow him to have his way on the step sheet, teach it his way but dance it my way.

LS: Is it all about compromise?

AB: Yes and also about the fun, the ability to learn, the satisfaction when you master a dance, all of that is important not just to me but any dancer.

LS: What makes a dance special? A success?

AB: Ah well... another difficult question to answer. Take for instance Destination Dancefloor; which was a dance that did not take off in the UK but when we toured and danced in the US it was an instant success.... People there just loved it and we danced it on their floors for many years. Same thing happened a few times so no one will ever know I guess.

The Wild Wild V

As our readers already know, France in the summer is the place to go to if you like Country festivals and events abound, from the South to the North.

This year, the festival Bain de Bretagne brought the whole of the West of France together between 12-15th August.

The guests were Rob Fowler and Kate Sala, Guylaine Bourdages and the French champion of Country dance Laura Bartolomei as well as dancers from the Canadian festival of St Tite in Quebec which is twinned to this event.

Alain Mangenot from www.country-france.fr gives us the low down on 'the biggest Country festival in the West' (of France)!

In 2010, the Bain de Bretagne festival went into the record books with its Line dance first of 1700 dancers together on one floor. The festival also created a twinning with a similar event in Canada, which brings literally thousands to the town thanks to its famous rodeo. This has led to various dancers from France and Quebec to travel to guest countries to be discovered and amaze native spectators and dancers alike.

The Bain de Bretagne festival is part of the bigger Country based events in France. It happens on a ten acre ground not very far from the city of Rennes. Dance is at the forefront of the event with guests like Kate and Rob and teachers from the region who are in charge of a huge dance floor every day. As a matter of fact, three marquees are dedicated to dance.

Lots of things to see and do are on offer, like the big rodeo, which is a hit with most spectators. This year for example, eleven big names came to the festival such as Mister Soul from Canada who sang all Johnny Cash's hits as well as Mr Jay Band, Jezebel, Holy West, Rosie Flores and celtic music groups.

Other groups played Cajun, folk rock and, of course Brittany folk music thanks to Fest Noz and Fest Deiz organisation.

Those who like entertainment with a difference had a ball with the last French championship heat of chainsaw sport as well as other tree cutting and general axing prowesses.

Spectacular and decidedly unlike anything else! A camp welcoming Indians and cowboys, and amateurs of American historical event reenactment offered an interesting slant on American-Indian culture as well as putting on military scenes and western shows. If you like motors, the array of fabulous Harley Davidson and American cars would have delighted you. Balloon rides completed the picture of what this event had on offer.

Bain de Bretagne festival is a city within a city and dance is represented everywhere with two huge marquees reserved for workshops and Master classes while a large popular floor exists the Honky Tonk Didier Pontdemer. In the Honky Tonk, the dancing is non stop, mainly Country or traditional music introduced by hosts coming from the West. Dancers were in their element dancing until late every night.

The terrific singer Sophie Binant impressed the crowds with her renditions of Country hits.

The workshops were of the highest quality and were given by both Rob Fowler and Kate Sala with terrific UK dances. Many dancers had travelled miles to be at the event and Ivonne Verhagen from the Netherlands enchanted them with her fantastic instruction style and her charm. The very young FFD French champion Laura Bartolomei who has amassed quite a few WCDF titles did her first workshops.

The very well known Canadian choreographer and instructor Guylaine Bourdages organised and was at the helm of the competition 'Challenge', a friendly contest which brought together French and Canadian dancers. The goal for the French dancers was to win a trip all the way to St. Tite as the Canadian dancers there had already won a trip to France.

The judges were Roger Picard (a well known founder in Quebec), Ivonne Verhagen, Rob Fowler, Kate Sala, Katy Torrella (from Spain), Annie Briand, Anita Lazaroms, Guylaine Bourdages and two young apprentice judges Laura Bartolomei and Amandine Marchand.

The contest finished with a real fun feeling as the director from St. Tite festival, Pascal Lafrenière, their charming president Marie Eve Tremblay, as well as representatives for Boulay and Mexicana Boots gave the winners their awards.

In short, Bain de Bretagne is a fantastic festival. Full of fun, discoveries and dancing! Not to be missed in August 2012!

En route for Jetty Road

Isn't it great when you realise how many doors Line dance can open for people? Australian Group Jetty Road are making it big in Europe and not least of all in France. Here, Franck Boucheraud tells us why...

Hello,

In one of the latest editions of Linedancer Magazine, Vivienne Scott the choreographer and instructor from Canada introduced us to the incomparable Canadian Cree singer, Shane Yellowstone. The interview also mentioned the fabulous Jetty Road, one of the best Pop Country groups from Australia which has opened Shane's concerts in Canada.

Well, the band has had the opportunity of coming to Europe and in France just before the Canadian Tour. I am the head of "Country Club 45" which is an association of Country Dance and Line Dance, and we were only too pleased to be able to facilitate their first trip over here.

Lee and Paula Bauman, Simon Ross and Julian Sammut, the band members, gigged on a stage near Orleans for a concert which blew away Country lovers and Line dancers, as some dances had been written especially for this show. 'Bye Bye Baby' was a choreography by Séverine Fillion while 'Let It Out' was written by Ulrich Bernard.

Jetty Road was also in concert in September at the Centre Culturel d' Olivet in France, as their brand new album 'Far Away Places', was being released. This was part of their world tour. It is interesting to note that this superb album features a duet with George Canyon, another huge Canadian star which Linedancer talked about some months ago again thanks to Vivienne Scott.

Watch the video of the show online at www.linedancermagazine.com

Since 2005, the band has travelled the world. With three albums so far and four singles being number one in Australia, this exceptional band which are also making it internationally. The band has opened in the States, in Canada and in Australia for Taylor Swift, Kenny Chesney, Brooks & Dunn and Tim McGraw.

In 2010, the band received three Country Music Awards in Australia for best single, best album and best group.

I am certainly very proud to think Country Club 45 has had a hand in making their names even more known in Europe and France in particular. Jetty Road is a terrific band and for more information go to www.jettyroad.com

The American Dream Tour

Barry and Darri Anne Amato are two names the world of Line dance knows well. Both live in Nashville and both are incredibly talented dancers in their own right. Here, Barry tells us of one amazing experience the couple recently helped to make happen for a group of dancers...

Four years ago, we had the opportunity to visit one of the most amazing countries in the world...South Africa. Little did we know then that the Line dance community would be thriving just as much as any other country in the world. We made many friends while there and managed to keep in contact.

Just recently, the South Africans ventured to our side of the globe to fulfill their dream of coming to the USA. When our friend and fellow dancer, Karin Van De Merwe of Capetown, South Africa, contacted us and told us they were coming to Nashville, we knew we had to kick things off with our annual 'Dirty Line Dancin'' event held in Pembroke, Virginia...the actual location where 'Dirty Dancin'' was filmed.

When the group arrived at Mountain Lake Resort, they were transported into a world where everything was all about the iconic pop culture film.

This event is all inclusive, so all they had to do when they arrived was eat, dance, dance, eat, eat, dance, dance and dance again. Oh yes, there was sleep as well! It didn't take long for this fun loving group to get acclimatised.

After settling into their rooms and one of the first of many inclusive meals in the famous dining room, the group was treated to a pyjama party with a showing of 'Dirty Dancin'' complete with popcorn, soda's and candy. Let me tell you, there is nothing like watching this movie where it all took place. You feel as though you are part of where the magic was created.

The next day consisted of workshops all day with me, Dari Anne, guest instructor/DJ Gail Cummings and also from the group leader, Karin. After lunch, we took time out to meet with the general manager, to tour the resort and learn of all of the locations where the movie was shot. Mr. Scandland has been the general manager of Mountain Lake hotel since the first week filming began at the resort. The group even got to meet with the Sous chef and listened to his stories about Patrick Swayze. After more dancing, many returned to our cabin, which coincidentally was used by the Houseman family (Baby's cabin) in the film and sat up until the early morning hours playing 'Dirty Dancin'' trivia.

The following two days were more workshops, open dancing, sightseeing around the beautiful mountain top and plenty of laughing. The South African ladies even hoisted me up in the air to replicate the famous 'lift'! We ended the weekend in the middle of the dance floor together with the 'Dirty Dancin'' anthem, 'The Time of My Life', which is something that we all had.

This one of a kind dance weekend included all meals, hotel accommodations, workshops, dances and special activities and because of its tremendous success, will be held once again next year, September 6-9th 2012. You can contact us at barry@barryamato.com for flyer, registration and additional information.

The fun didn't stop there for the South Africans as they made the six hour trip over the mountains to Nashville where they continued to live out their dream. Unfortunately, Dari Anne and I weren't able to accompany them throughout the week but managed to create a couple of exciting moments for our friends. Midweek found the troupe performing live in concert with Laura Bell Bundy. Many of the Line dancers will know Laura Bell through her dance hit, Giddy On Up but here in America, Laura is most known for her Broadway fame and her portrayal of Elle Woods in the musical, 'Legally Blonde'. The concert was held on the riverfront in Nashville, just behind the Wildhorse Saloon. The group showed up at the stage for a 3pm sound check and rehearsal before the performance at 6pm. Prior to the concert, all the South Africans were brought back to stage for a personal meet and greet with Laura Bell. She was gracious enough to give them all a beautiful coloured photo autographed personally to each one of them. Once the dancers were introduced by Laura, it was amazing to see the energy that they brought to the concert. Many onlookers were snapping photographs and shooting videos followed by an exciting ovation. Throughout the week, there would be many other activities for the group.

The last night in Nashville brought us all together one more time to enjoy meeting up with our friend and CMA Award winner, Suzy Bogguss. All were excited to be able to meet Suzy one on one at the famous Ernest Tubbs Record Shop in downtown Nashville. This place is home to the Midnight Jamboree radio broadcast on WSM which has been in existence since the 1950's. Every Saturday night, Grand Ole Opry stars would leave the Ryman Auditorium and cross the street to the record shop for the midnight broadcast. Stars like Patsy Cline and Loretta Lynn got their early start on the Jamboree.

Dari Anne and I had to bid farewell to our South African friends that night as we started to make plans to return to their beautiful country. We were so blessed that they had the opportunity to come visit our fair city and help make it a memorable one for them.

Tom Tyler is a rising star who is due to release his solo album Silence this month. With a sound similar to The Script and Jack Johnson there is a strong emphasis on indie folk and a raw musical talent which is not easy to find these days. Here, Linedancer chats to Tom about his new release and why he would love to have a Line dance hit.

Tell me about your love of music. When did it begin?

My earliest memory of playing music is marching around my parents living room with a violin under my arm pretending to be a soldier. I was 3 years old. I guess my earliest memories of listening to music are on Mum and Dad's record player, listening to an eclectic mix of The Beatles, Joan Jet, Shakin' Stevens, Holst and Beethoven.

We hear you play a huge selection of musical instruments. Were your family musical?

I was trained as violinist and drummer, I also play guitar, piano, mandolin and obviously I sing as well. My Mum was quite musical, she played Cello, and percussion at school and college.

Where do you get your inspiration to write your songs?

Mostly from personal experience, relationships and I guess I like to try and capture those raw moments of emotion that we all feel and can be so fleeting but can sometimes be captured in a song. I'm very lucky that those emotions for me often get translated into songs and music.

Your music is quite folky. How did you decide to go for this sound over others?

I think it's a question of maturity and finding your own style. I've been writing for a few years and typically you can find yourself copying other styles. But eventually I think you settle on what you like. I'm a fan of the rich chords and harmonies of country and folk, hence I think influence comes through in some of the songs. If there is a chance for a great harmony I will always look to put it in there.

You have had material stolen from your house twice. Tell me a bit about that? It must have been terrible!

Yep it wasn't great. The first time I stupidly hadn't backed up my hard drive. But actually what you find is the strongest songs remain in your head and you can build them again.

The second time I just thought 'you have to be kidding' but I had learnt my lesson and I didn't lose any of the song files. But I guess someone out there has a half completed version of my album, I wonder if they were musicians and tried to develop any of the songs?

What can we expect from your album due out soon?

Hopefully people will find music that they can connect to. Although the songs are personal to me, I'm always amazed at how people can appropriate songs to their own life and find their own meaning in music and lyrics I have written. Musically it's a real mix of upbeat tracks with big chorus's and more delicate (perhaps even folky as you say) tracks that work on a number of levels. I guess I've tried to encapsulate euphoria and fragility in one album. I think we can all feel those emotions at one time.

What has been the best and worst bits about your career so far?

I love playing and writing music so in a way there are no bad bits. But I think the most difficult part is understanding that the music industry is a fickle business with many pitfalls and unfortunately it's not always about talent and ability.

How would you feel to have a Linedance hit?

I would be delighted. I used to spend some time in North Carolina and I was shown how to Line dance or "Shag" as they call it. Unfortunately I wasn't very good but it was great fun and the music is infectious.

How did it feel to release your debut single Shooting Star? Were you nervous?

Not really. I love the song, and love playing it live, moreover people seem to love it as well. I was just very excited to finally let people hear what I had been working on for sometime.

Finally, can you tell me what your ambitions are for the future? Where do you see yourself?

I'd love to think that the album Silence will really strike a chord with music lovers everywhere and it goes to number one. I'll tour this album and keep writing my own material while working with other artists. Well, that's the plan. But who knows...

TELL ME MORE

In this occasional series we are going to try and find out about some of your favourite choreographers.

Dawn Middleton spoke with Marie Sorensen.

Marie Sorensen

What is the first memory of dance in your life?

My first memory with Line dancing is from nearly seven years ago, I decided to lose some weight and by pure coincidence I did so by Line dancing. I just needed a good form of exercise and I absolutely love this dance form. I lost 30kg in the first year, so I'm still very happy.

Before you got into Line Dance, what was your favourite genre?

I've always loved to dance to good music it makes me happy. Before I started Line dancing, I had an antique business for many years. Today, I make a living of Line dancing, I am a choreographer and an educated instructor.

What did it bring to you that other dance genres had not?

I think one of the great things about Line dance is that you can go alone to the dance, you are not dependent on your partner having to come along and I think many people agree with me.

What did you instantly like about it?

Line dancing, music and all the nice people I have met through Line dance makes me happy and gives me a good life. I also appreciate the social part of it, you also get plenty of good exercise and are reminded to laugh every day, it is the way forward for me.

You are well known in the Line Dance world but can you tell me about growing up and a little of your background before Line dance?

As mentioned earlier, I have always loved to dance because good music, singing and dancing makes me happy. I was born in the country and we danced a lot as children, for school parties and at home but I also went to dance school for several years from when I was six years old. When I grew up, I very often went out dancing, I could dance all night, now I feel so lucky that today I can make a living out of dancing.

What do you think makes a good dancer?

A good dancer? I do not think any dancers are better than others, I think it's VERY important that we make room for everyone, regardless of age, gender, etc. No matter how one may move, there must be room for everyone on the dance floor. No matter how you move or dance, there is room for everyone and everybody will smile and be good, happy dancers but it is also important to distinguish between competitive dance and social dance.

When did you decide to take your interest further and become a choreographer/instructor?

After Line dancing for only a month, I wanted to teach but it was too early. When I had been dancing for six months I was on my first instructors course, it was so crazy, I loved it. I started up a class, which I called 'Slim Line Dancing' for overweight people, since I had just lost 30kg of my own weight, perhaps I could help others to lose weight, it was fantastic. Some months later I was attending my next instructors course at a higher level and since then I have attended all sorts of courses for Line dancing. Choreographing came slowly, I found a piece of music, but there was no choreography for it, so I tried to write my own dances. The first couple were not very good but gradually they became better and better. Today I have written close to 250 choreographies, mostly Beginner and Improver levels. My next target is to write Intermediate dances. In February 2011 I became the happy Winner of the 'Danish Choreographer of the Year 2010' from the Danish Line Dance Awards, I was so happy and proud to receive this award.

Where and how do you find inspiration to choreograph a dance?

It is not difficult, I listen to a lot of music, and suddenly I find a song I like and I want to write a dance for it. I save the music on my computer, and then I take it out when the desire for a dance is here, the desire has to be there, otherwise I can not write a dance.

Do you have a specific process you follow, do you have to find the music first for example?

Yes, first I have to find the music, which I have to like myself. I actually like all kinds of music. After I have counted the beats and bars of the song, I decide if it is possible to make a choreography for it and before you know it a dance is made.

In your opinion, what is your greatest achievement?

My most popular choreography so far is 'Love, JoAnn'. Every time I create a dance I write from the heart but clearly, some choreographies will be danced more than others. My greatest experience in Line dance was in 2010 in Los Angeles where I went to teach, it was amazing, I will always remember it as one of the greatest experiences in my life.

What are your dreams for the future?

Oh, I have many dreams but most of all, I hope that I can keep dancing for many, many years to come. As my name (Sunshine Cowgirl) and my choreographies are becoming more and more known, there are many invitations from many places in the world where people have invited me to go and do workshops and I really like that. This year I'm going to Malta for three weeks and I have standing invitations from Holland, Germany, several places in the USA, South Africa, England etc. It is a great challenge and I am looking forward to it very much. I've decided to say yes, to all the challenges I get and that I am able to fit into my schedule. Life is too short to miss these opportunities. For six years I have now arranged Line dance trips from Denmark to Turkey, two trips each of three weeks every year, with about 300 Line dancers from Denmark. My goal in this project, is to expand it so Line dancers from all over the world can come to Turkey and join us in our Line dance.

Eric Church:

I AM WHAT I AM

You may think that an artist who has had two Top Ten singles and an ACM Award for Top New Solo Vocalist would stick to the same direction. But American singer and songwriter, Eric Church, is trying something bolder with his third album, 'Chief'. Richard Kirk had an exclusive interview with Eric recently.

"I knew I could do songwriting, I always have. I do it every day and it's a natural thing. To make a record seemed impossible and so hard to figure out how to get a record deal." Hailing from a musical background Eric Church formed a band at his first year in college playing little bars and clubs and anywhere they were allowed to play.

"Music is on my mother's side of the family. My grandpa sang and played harmonica, my grandmother sang really well and my mother has a great voice.

I think the '70's was the greatest musical period we have ever had, not just for Country but right across the board." Growing up with parents who came from the '70's and being born in 1977 really influenced Eric a lot. "It was really a big playground for me as I listened to four or five different types of music."

Eric's first band mostly played covers, trying to make some money from tips. "Our college was in the mountains of North Carolina and that leads to a funny story. When we had our first gig we didn't have a name and at one audition we were asked, "what do you guys call yourselves". As a songwriter it was one of my worst moments, I looked out of the window and said The Mountain Boys."

Eric wanted to leave college to pursue his music. His father made an offer that if he graduated from college he would pay Eric's first six months living expenses in Nashville. Aged 23 he graduated with a degree in marketing and hit the road for Music City. He knew no one and started knocking on doors. "I did a part time job on a little television shopping network. It was a really tough time.

Working all night and coming back to try and grab a nap, then work on my music all day. My main focus was to get a foot into the songwriting community in Nashville. It took quite a while for that to happen. I stayed in downtown, a pretty incredible community. There are a lot of places to play and a lot of musicians and writers."

The young, talented singer finally got a songwriting deal and the first of Eric's songs was heard on the radio. "It was Terri Clarke with 'The World Needs A Drink'. You wait your whole life for something like that to happen and when it does it's a really neat thing."

When co-writing, Eric likes to start a song and then link up with a fellow writer from a select group of people he knows well. After two years, to his total surprise, Capitol records offered a recording deal.

"The guy from the record company asked if I had ever thought of being an artist. I knew the artists path can be very hard. He said to me, 'if you get a record deal as a songwriter you are going to be able to control a lot more of your songs. Songs on the record, songs on the radio, you won't have to go through the effort of having artists record your songs all the time which is difficult in a town like Nashville.'"

Eric then met producer Jay Joyce and they done some songwriting demos together. "It didn't sound like songwriting demos anymore, it sounded like me. I heard a sound I had never heard before it just sounded unique."

Eric first album, 'Sinners Like Me', was released in 2006, with it's rough and ready 'Outlaw' style of Country which sent the album high on both the country and pop charts. Instead of arranging for Eric to tour as the support act for a bigger artist they booked into rock clubs often in university towns where there was standing room only.

The follow-up album, Carolina, released in 2009 is, at the time of writing, sensationally still in the top 50 charts.

Released in the UK on the HumpHead label Eric Church's new album 'Chief', his grandfather's nickname, shot straight to Number One on the Billboard 200 charts in the USA. Which is no surprise with it's thoughtful songwriting on such great tracks as 'Hungover And Hard Up', 'Like Jesus Does' and 'Jack Daniels' this truly is stone Country.

"Chief sold 145,000 records on the first week of it's release in the States. It's just incredible. I was reading a piece in Billboard and it hit me, it said, we were 'the only artist since 1967 to debut at Number One without previously not having a top five song. Bobby Gentry was the last to do it'.

"We have been touring with Toby Keith and are then taking time off to get ready to do our first headline shows in January. We will be doing arenas and stuff like that."

Eric concludes: "One thing I love about Country music is the strive to do better. We all have our demons and it's a great thing to have one's priorities in order. There's a lot of people out there who struggle from day to day. The one thing I can't stand is hypocritical people.

"I'm one of those guys that, what I am is what I am".

Tim's album of the month

GEORGE STRAIT Here For A Good Time

HUMPHEAD RECORDS
HUMP116

He has had a career spanning 30 years but it's unbelievable to think that George Strait releases his 39th studio album! Multi award winner George has the accolade of having had the most number one hits of any artist across any genre including Elvis. George co-wrote most of this new album with his son Bubba.

George's opener Love's Gonna Make It Alright (110bpm) has his distinctive voice all over it, it's a delightful country cha cha, it's superb country music and will have several dances choreographed to it.

Drinkin' Man (118bpm) the musical accompaniment is outstanding on this melancholy number on which George recounts the story of a boy who starts drinking at an early age.

Shame On Me (98bpm) this is classic George Strait, and here George delivers a superb vocal performance showing that he is as good as ever. This should be another tempter for choreographers.

Poison (64pm) there seems to be a theme around boozing songs as George sings another one which is a good nightclub two step.

Here For A Good Time (128bpm) is a cracking east coast swing number and is one of the best dance prospects on the album which will have choreographers falling over themselves to write a dance to it.

House Across The Bay (76bpm) you know from the smooth intro that this is going to be a bit special and it sure delivers, I love this dreamy song with its smooth harmonies and I am sure you will too.

Lone Star Blues (90pm) George gives us another beauty with this up tempo story song which has a catchy chorus and a good hook and you could be dancing to this real soon.

A Showman's Life (72bpm) features the beautiful vocal talents of Faith Hill and this is somewhat of an autobiographical song for George. As it's a nightclub two step it could make for a decent dance track.

Three Nails And A Cross (84bpm) is a thought provoking number with some powerful lyrics that is more of a listener than a dance track but is a brilliant song nonetheless.

Blue Marlin Blues (122bpm) sounds a lot like 'Witch Queen of New Orleans' and it is a super west coast swing track and I see no reason why this wouldn't be a big hit with the right dance to it.

The finale comes courtesy of I'll Always Remember You (68bpm) a brilliant nightclub two step with some fine harmonies and George does a little talking section in the middle which is a tribute to his many fans.

George Strait is without doubt a country music legend and with this amazing new album he shows that he is as good as ever. This album is one of the musical highlights of the year and I am convinced you will love it as much as I do.

Franc Cinelli

Good Times Goodtimes

DEFINITION ARTS RECORDS

DANCE 3 · LISTEN 4

Franc Cinelli was born in Rome, raised in London and developed a love of music from listening to his mother's collection which included Springsteen, The Police, Dire Straits, Floyd and Marley. He learned his trade playing pubs and clubs and graduated to touring in the States. We now have his first album to review.

Possible dance tracks include; Point One (122bpm) very reminiscent of Jimmy Nail's 'Crocodile Shoes'; Let It Begin (128bpm) a super track that shows the influences of many of the above named artists; Magic Hour (120bpm) Franc's vocal delivery is a delight on this even paced track; Fortune Teller Song (94bpm) is the first single release of the album and with both strong beat and harmonies it's got good credentials for a dance track and there is a radio edit version with a shorter intro included; Burn (122bpm) this is one of the standout tracks on the album and Franc's gravelly voice along with the strong beat contribute this fine song and Diamonds In The Sky (145bpm) upon hearing the first few beats you can tell this is going to be the best dance track on the album.

There are some decent listening tracks too; Love (65bpm) Franc gets all deep and meaningful on this track; Get Ready (68bpm) which could be straight off a Dylan album and Sweet England (82bpm) which is a good acoustic number and has some glorious cello playing on the backing. My copy of the album is a deluxe version which includes half a dozen acoustic versions of some of the aforementioned tracks.

Franc Cinelli's music is best described as alternative country/blues although he shouldn't really be pigeon holed as he is a good singer/songwriter who deserves to break through.

Martina McBride

Eleven

HUMPHREY RECORDS – HUMPH118

DANCE 4 · LISTEN 4

Martina McBride has sold in excess of 18 million albums, had 24 top 10 singles and won countless awards. She has delivered some amazing albums over the years and it's time to find out if this latest offering, on which Martina co-wrote many of the tracks, is another.

Interesting dance tracks include; One Night (130bpm) a country pop number and I can see this being a big chart hit in the States, it has a super dance beat; Always Be This Way (80bpm) has a staccato beat and could be another good dance track; Broken Umbrella (106bpm) Martina changes tack completely with this cool song which is embellished with a horn section on the backing and it's brilliant! You Can Get You're Loving Right (104bpm) this sassy number highlights the strength in Martina's voice; Teenage Daughters (84bpm) has a steady pace and reflects on Martina's family and finally a couple of nightclub two steps When You Love A Sinner (76bpm) and Watcha Gonna Do (62bpm) which is a little gem!

As you would expect there are several ballads; I'm Gonna Love You Through It (64bpm) is a very moving song about the big C; Marry Me (78bpm) is a Duet with Pat Monahan of the band Train who wrote the song and it is sure to be used by many for proposing to their loved ones; Summer Of Love (68bpm) a very melodious song and finally Long Distance Lullaby (110bpm) a beautiful song of missing your loved one when away from home.

Surprisingly there are no big production powerhouse ballads on this album which is what Martina McBride is renowned for. Usually I instantly love her albums but this one could be a grower, see what you think?

Tom Tyler

Silence

CONSTANT RECORDS

DANCE 2 · LISTEN 4

We have a new name for you with Tom Tyler a singer/songwriter who is not a country artist and whose sound is likened to The Police and Jack Johnson. It will be interesting to see if there are any hidden dance gems on Tom's self-penned album.

The tracks that could be of interest as dance tracks are; Silence (125bpm) a funky track that has both instant chart and dance appeal; Shooting Star (140bpm) is to be the first single and whilst it is a strong track, I believe the previous one would have more chance in the charts; Skyline (100bpm) is a bold track on which Tom's vocal is likened to Don Henley; Higher Ground (98bpm) has a good solid beat and could entice someone to write a dance to it; Say Something (98bpm) this song has a contemporary sound and with its good beat and catchy chorus could be the makings of a good dance track; 11 Days (120bpm)

Tom changes tempo altogether on this upbeat number which has a driving back beat; Tell Me (86bpm) this too has a good dance beat; Shine (130bpm) which has a good cha cha beat and for me is probably the best dance track on the album and finally This Time (90bpm) Tom is vocally at his best on this song which has strong harmonies and a good dance beat.

Neither of the remainder of the tracks Home (80bpm) which is described as a delicious mixture of folk and rock and Unbreakable (72bpm) a stunning ballad and my favourite track on the album, are dance tracks but are well worth a listen.

Tom Tyler is a very talented multi-instrumentalist and a fine songwriter and whilst the album is not full of dance tracks it is a surprisingly good mix of music that you just want to give a try.

IT'S TIME TO BE COUNTED

BECAUSE YOUR VOTE MATTERS

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to all this year's Crystal Boot Award nominees.

The Crystal Boot Awards are presented in recognition of dedication, talent and the ability to achieve standards of performance and imagination that stimulates further creativity.

To receive a nomination from members of the dance community is a great achievement. Your work is obviously appreciated and your talent is an inspiration to us all.

THANK YOU

Thank you all for your nominations, we really appreciate your support. Linedancer magazine is delighted to host the Crystal Boot Awards and realise that without your votes they simply would not happen.

Once more we ask you to make the difficult choice by casting your vote for the final winners.

WHO CAN VOTE?

ALL LINEDANCERS ... EVERYWHERE. There's no excuse for you all not to vote this year.

HOW TO VOTE

There's a host of options available to you ... simply pick the most convenient method:

VOTE BY POST

This official voting form can be pulled out, completed and posted to Linedancer Magazine to arrive no later than Friday 30th December 2011.

VOTE BY TELEPHONE

Simply call the number published against your favourite nominee and your vote is cast. Calls cost 25p each from a BT landline; calls from other providers or from outside the UK may vary.

VOTE BY SMS TEXT MESSAGING

Simply text the words shown on the Voting Form to the number published and your vote is cast. Texts cost 25p each plus one standard message charge. Texts from outside the UK may cost more.

VOTE ONLINE

Go to our website and click the VOTE NOW link ... www.linedancermagazine.com

VOTING RULES

1. Votes can be cast by members and non-members alike. The process is open to all Line dancers, the world over.
2. One person, one vote. You are entitled to vote once only in each category. Multiple entries will not be counted.
3. Votes received after 12.00 GMT on Friday 30th December 2011 will not be counted; after this time telephone and SMS voters may still be charged although invalid.
4. Spoiled or illegible entries will not be counted.
5. Postal entries should be sent to:

BEAUTIFUL

Meet Marlee Scott. This new Nashville name is already making waves with a sound reminiscent of early Shania. Definitely sunny, pop Country and definitely in the making to become a dancer's favourite, her new single 'Beautiful, Maybe' is destined to become a hit.

Louisa Austin speaks to the new artist.

Louisa Austin: Hi Marlee. Reading your biography so far, I see that you have always wanted to be a singer. Why do you think that was?

Marlee Scott: Hi Louisa. Well if you ever talk to my parents or family, they will say they are not surprised I ended up in showbusiness. I have always loved performing, whether it was acting, dancing, or singing. It has always been second nature to me to perform in front of people, I love the adrenaline rush!

LA: So a career in music was always understood...

MS: Pretty much! I have always been creative and I think being a singer, recording artist and songwriter allows me to stay that way. It makes me so happy to be able to play guitar, sing and get to work with other creative talents.

There really was never anything else I wanted to do growing up.

LA: Was your family always supportive?

MS: I had a wonderful, happy childhood. I was lucky enough to have parents who let me explore my different interests as a kid. I tried all kinds of activities but my favourites have always been horse riding and music. Younger, if I wasn't at the barn, I was either making up dances, plays, videos or singing karaoke, anything creative with my sister and friends.

LA: Let me ask... Why Country for you? How did it happen?

MS: The answer is simple. Country music is real music. I love that it tells a story and anyone can relate to it. My Mom was always a big fan of Country music. Because it was what she listened to in the car, I was obviously exposed to it and became a fan. I briefly fell in love with pop but at 16, came back to Country.

LA: Do you have any role models?

MS: Lots! I really love Keith Urban, he is so passionate about his music and guitar playing, very inspiring. I also really like Lady Antebellum's style, I would love to collaborate with them someday. I am also a big fan of Canadian singer songwriter Carolyn Dawn Johnson and Bryan Adams.

LA: Now I know a story about you and a pink electric guitar.... Do you want to elaborate?

MS: When I was seven, my Mom wanted me to take flute lessons. I wasn't that keen! At the teacher's house I looked over and saw a bright pink electric guitar sitting in a stand. I just pointed at it and said, "I want to play that!"

We convinced my Mom to let me take guitar lessons instead, which also led to voice lessons. I still play guitar to this day.

LA: Writing your own songs is important to you, right?

MS: Absolutely. I think songwriting is a great way to express oneself, I love writing, but I am always open to outside songs from other writers as well. I am just a huge believer in a great song.

LA: You have been nominated for several awards in the last few years. How does it feel to have been recognised for your music in this way?

MS: It's so awesome. I remember being a kid and dreaming of being nominated for awards. I was nominated for a CCMA Award and Canadian Radio Music Award last year and when I found out, both times I was so surprised.

LA: I love your new track Beautiful Maybe. Tell me a little more about the song?

MS: Oh thank you! Beautiful Maybe is all about hope and dreams and is a feel good song. I think in this crazy world we live in today, it's nice to sing about something that gives you the belief that there is good and happiness in the world.

LA: What does the future hold for Marlee...

MS: Hard work! I am looking forward to playing a lot of shows in the near future. Touring and sharing my music with the world is something I can't wait to do.

LA: Finally what are your ultimate ambitions for your career?

MS: I would love to be able to have a strong presence in the Country music industry and be able to work with different artists, maybe a few more nominations and maybe even a couple more awards would also be great along the way.

I have so far to go still, I am just at the beginning of a long, crazy journey, I can't wait to see where this road will take me.

LINEDANCER NEEDS YOU!

Grapevine and Between The Lines are two very popular sections of the magazine and most of our readers have told us how much they enjoy seeing people sharing their love of dance every month throughout these pages.

If you dance and love it, let us know about it!
You don't always need to have done something extraordinary or an event to take place...
Just send us a letter or an email (preferably!) with some pictures and we will make sure that the world gets to see you. Who knows, we may even contact you for a fully fledged article...

Tulips from Salou

For the second year running, a group of eager Line dancers made their way to Salou for a week long holiday hosted by our own Betty Drummond and Steve Healy.

Betty readily admits it: "I am always nervous about organising anything like this - it's such a big responsibility. It worries me having so many people to look after. I want everyone to have a good time and enjoy themselves and have a brilliant holiday."

She adds with a big laugh "Actually I needn't have worried at all - I could tell right away; as soon as we met at Liverpool airport that everyone was in high spirits and that nothing was going to spoil this holiday - so I just went with the flow and I had a ball too!"

After the two hour flight, the first of the 80 dancers landed in the beautiful Barcelona sunshine, grabbed their cases and headed for the exit where Steve Healy and John Cooper from the Liverpool Cruise Club were already waiting to greet them. Then it was onto the coach for the short drive to the resort.

Steve said, "This holiday isn't just about dance, it's about relaxing and chilling out too, so the hotel Costa Dorada is a fabulous place to do that.

We had the exclusive use of a big room on the ground floor which became 'our place'. We decorated it, re-arranged the furniture and took possession of the unmanned bar which was equipped with glasses and ice so that we could BOO (Bring Our Own).

Each evening had a different theme, the first being the Meet and Greet. Betty says: "It was really lovely to see so many faces from last year back again."

Steve agrees: "Line dancers are known for their friendliness the world over and that is one of the main reasons why they have such good fun. They share their hobby with everyone no matter what age, level or background."

Our main guest was Ria Vos and she was a massive hit with everyone! The dancers loved her and made it clear they would love her to come back again next year. Ria has such an easy going manner and teaching style.

She and her friend Jo joined in all the fun and activities, dressing up on each of the themed night and taking part in all the activities. When the Sangria flowed they would often burst into their unique version of Tulips from Amsterdam doing their best to teach Betty the Dutch words!

Ria's workshops were held after breakfast each day and finished before lunch so that the afternoons were free for people to do as they pleased. This worked really well and seemed to please everyone.

But the real action took place in the evenings. After a hard day in the sun they showered, changed and enjoyed a leisurely buffet style meal. Then, in true Spanish style, they strolled into 'our place' and started the party.

Betty says: "We had one day free so dancers could choose what they wanted to do, most opted for a trip to Barcelona. We had our own holiday rep who organised a coach and a real entertaining Scouser called Eddy was our personal guide. What Eddy doesn't know about Barcelona isn't worth knowing!"

During the Spanish Fiesta night local dance champion Miquel Menéndez delighted the ladies with a special choreographed demonstration to Spanish themed music. Earlier in the day Miquel taught a really easy fun dance he had choreographed called Boogie For Me to The Dirty Boogie by The Brian Stetzer Orchestra. Everyone enjoyed it - because you can't dance it without a smile.

However, perhaps the most entertaining night of all was the Salou Got Talent night." Both Steve and Betty still fall about remembering the evening. It seems talent abounded - with various singers, comedians and dancers in their midst.

Our special friend David Cunningham opened the show with a Groovy Kind Of Love. David is a big favourite and the dancers quickly helped him out with a singalong.

Elvis in the guise of John Morgan who needed no help as he bumped and grind his way through Wooden Heart and All Shook Up. Ann Jones surprised and fooled even her best friends when she tap danced onto the stage in a blow up fairy costume. There where cabarets from The Brothers Grim who gave us the Guy Mitchell classic Singing

The Blues and dance demos from Liz Scott's Luscious Lassies and also Karen Kennedy.

And who could forget Ria and Jo with yes, you've guessed it, Sangria and Tulips from Amsterdam again! 'nough said.

One of the great things about this holiday was how everyone blended together on and off the dance floor - from the Basics to the Beast with the odd party mixer and fun dance thrown in.

Not forgetting the impromptu Titanic routine from one of the balconies where Diane took over from the main hotel show and got a huge round of applause from all the guests there and the farewell dance which was literally choreographed on the hoof ... Phew! - well done Betty, er we think!

- teach-review

Your first lot of votes have now been counted and Linedancer has your runner up list for you to choose from. Read on for more details ...

Launched as an online competition only, the 2011 Choreography Competition has attracted lots of worldwide attention and a good deal of votes too.

We were really impressed by the quality of your scripts and your videos too. It was always our intention to "explode" the competition to discover new worldwide dances and names and we think this competition has done that very well.

So now and without further delay here is the list of the runners up:

Well.... here you go. Six names from different parts of the world (USA, UK, GERMANY) competing for your vote. We will not let you know at this stage who is tops in each category so as not to influence the votes but all will be revealed pretty soon.

In the meantime you only have until the 20th December to make your mind up which one you really like. Please remember this competition and its results will be a big step for the choreographers who have entered and each vote will count for them so get set, go to your nearest PC and vote for your favourite now.

It only takes a few moments and who knows, your vote may just be the stepping stone for the world to discover tomorrow's brand new star choreographer!

Go to www.linedancermagazine.com/choreographycompetition/ to enter.

And to all the contestants ... Good luck!

Jealousy - Will Young

What a cracker. A fabulous song and an excellent dance. Everyone loved it, no tags or restarts. This must be a hit.

P Davies

A great dance and it goes so well with the music.

D Coates

I taught this great dance and it went down so well I decided to teach it to another class. They also liked it. Well done, I hope it does well, with no tags or restarts it should.

Pamela Stevenson

Intermediates loved it! Not too difficult, has pace and a great track.

Norma Purnell

Hey great stuff, a great dance with mixed tempo. No 'tarts' (tags or re-starts). This is a winner for sure. Well received and lots of praise for a well choreographed dance, thanks.

I am so glad I came across this dance. Some fantastic choreography here. My dancers really enjoyed it. It was a challenge but I think they appreciated having some new and different choreography. I really do hope that others teach this dance and it's got 'hit' written all over it.

Leanne Rolls

A catchy understated track and a dance that has a good mix of familiar combinations and some interesting new choreography. Section four is my favourite which I christened 'the robot section'. This is possibly the trickiest section in the dance as you have to remember to keep the weight on the right after the swivel turns but it feels great to dance once mastered. This dance deserves to do really well.

David Spencer

Decided to investigate this dance and my class really liked it! Great step combinations which initially, really make you concentrate but once mastered, they flow very well. Well done, great dance.

I am sure dancers are going to 'love 2 dance' this. The music and choreography are spot on. I think all levels will enjoy this and I can see it doing very well. Very easy to learn.

Margaret Hains

This one went down really well with my Intermediates. Interesting music, very catchy in parts and some great choreography which fits well. All in all, a fab dance!

Leanne Rolls

This is filling the floor at my class and the bonus is that it's not a hard teach. Flows well and the music has a great beat to dance to.

David Spencer

Linedancer magazine has always valued reviews from anyone – instructors, of course, but dancers too. If you dance, we know you will have opinions and favourites. We know that your reviews are a helpful tool to other dancers. Please take a moment or two to help us to help you.

Share them with us and you may soon see your name in print ... Go to www.linedancermagazine.com, log in and tell us your favourites and why. A couple of lines is more than enough ... please don't forget!

A brilliant dance to a great country track. Excellent choreography, it all just hits the spot! The script looks more complicated than it is so don't be put off. Hope it does really well as I love it.

Val Whittington

A fantastic track of music that goes hand in hand perfectly with this super fun dance! The tag and ending all add to the quality and it is sure to be a hit. A real feel good song and achievable for most dancers. I love it.

Andrew Hayes

Fab dance, great fun. Not as hard or as fast as you think it is going to be. All our classes love it, from Improvers to Intermediate. Even the dancers that are into the more modern, funky dances enjoy this one.

A lovely nightclub from Maggie to a beautiful tune. No tags or restarts. An easy teach everyone loved it.

P Davies

I agree, I have now taught this dance to both my Intermediate classes and it went down very well indeed. Will do the 'easier' version, replacing the turns with the suggested alternatives at my mixed ability class. Also a beautiful song. Well done.

Diana Lowery

Definitely worth teaching this. A beautiful track and good choreography. Went down extremely well at a recent event. Even those not keen on nightclub liked this one!

Lesley Michel

I enjoyed learning this one, I danced the non-turning alternative and found I needed to keep track of the counts in my head at some points but I think it's a lovely dance and the music is nice too.

I taught this dance last week. The song is lovely and the steps go really well. It has a good ending on the front wall. The class really enjoy dancing it. The song is so catchy too, well done.

Hilary Birks

A good dance to a good piece of music, the restart is obvious but caught one or two out with the sailor touch instead of sailor step, when a dance gets a round of applause at the end you know it has the feel good factor, well done, it deserves to be a winner.

Denise Nicholls

I taught this dance and everyone in the class loved it, the music is great. I know the class liked the dance as the round of applause at the end showed. Well done.

Welcome to the most comprehensive and reflective dance chart published.

To ensure this chart is meaningful, independent and accurate we rely entirely on charts supplied by dancers.

Send us your ten favourite dances in order of preference. It does not matter how old the dance is or to what track of music you dance it to.

Providing you include your membership number, name and address for verification, your chart is entered into a database where, along with all the others, it is sorted, ranked and finally counted. The computer produces the results. Nothing is left out, nothing is edited.

Celebrate Dance!
In Memory of Carmen Mah

Vivienne Scott sends us her report on an event which celebrated not just dance but where all those present, remembered a very special woman, Carmen....

'Celebrate Dance' was the title and that was what we did in Ontario this past September, in celebration of the life of Carmen Mah, a well known instructor and dancer, who very sadly passed away at the age of 54 last year. Carmen is still missed by our Line dance community.

Carmen loved going to dance events and talked about possibly organising one herself. Frequently she was the first one to greet you with a wide smile when you entered the ballroom at any of the big events across Canada and the US and she was often one of the last dancers on the floor at night (or the next morning I should say!) At her side would be hubby Robert, who was her biggest supporter. A little shy, at first Robert kept to the side and didn't join in but he told me that when Carmen went from one Line dance class a week to dancing six days a week he reckoned he needed to learn, otherwise he would never get to see her. As you can imagine, it has been an extremely difficult time for Robert and their three children as they have grieved for their loss. However it was during this period that Robert decided that he wanted to create a joyous memory of his wife and he came up with the idea of holding a dance event in her honour. Hence 'Celebrate Dance!'

Many of Carmen's favourite international choreographers and instructors were invited to teach including Scott Blevins (US), Rachael McEnaney (UK), John Robinson (US), Joanne Brady (US), Amy Christian-Sohn (US) and Jennifer Choo Sue Chin (Malaysia). Michele Perron flew in from BC and Gerard Murphy from Nova Scotia. Local instructors/choreographers included Carmen's close friends and I too was invited to teach. When Carmen first started teaching I would guest instruct for her class, it was always a pleasure.

Robert held the event in a Hotel and Convention Centre just outside of Toronto. The teaching rooms and ballrooms were an excellent size and it was here that Robert really made his mark, he made all the dance floors. Yes, from scratch. What a tribute to Carmen.

JP Potter from California and Lynn Warden, Ontario were the event DJs. It is hard for a DJ to come from the outside without knowledge of local dance favourites and manage to please the dancers. However, JP Potter had a request list set up on Robert's website well before the event and he did an excellent job of trying to accommodate all tastes and levels. Local dancers all love Lynn; she is a delightful individual and a most responsive DJ so her room was a pleasure to dance in.

Friday morning started at nine with a preview of the days' dances; there were three classes each hour going through to six pm. Then back to the dance floor for the evening dance with a break at ten pm for a preview of dances to be taught on Saturday and Sunday. I gather the dance floor stayed open until the wee hours of the morning!

Another full day of classes on the Saturday and then a special dinner. It was then time for the show. Amy looked gorgeous and pleased us with a taste of Indian dance. The graceful Jennifer performed the dance that brought her and Carmen together. Michele and hubby Brian delighted us with some smooth moves. Gerard and his flash mob dancers filled the floor with energy and Rachael brought us to tears, what an absolutely stunning performance.

But there was another act that moved us all. You might remember that I mentioned that Robert is quite a shy individual. Well, there he was in the middle of the dance floor dressed in a Malaysian sarong brought for him by Jennifer and it seems that Robert loves karaoke, also plays an electric guitar and when he first met Carmen he serenaded her, so he sang to us one of her favourite songs. There was truly not a dry eye in the place.

But there was one other surprise, this time for Rachael. I presented her with an award that she won in New Zealand for Best International Dance 2010 with 'Rhyme or Reason'. When the Award Organisers heard that Rachael and I would be at this event together, they asked if I would make the presentation, they felt that Canada would be an excellent stand-in for New Zealand.

Everyone looked rather jaded on the Sunday morning. However, classes didn't start until ten am, Robert told me that Carmen did not like early morning classes.

Dances taught were a mix of new, classics, Beginner and more Advanced. I liked the classics idea because as well as having fun walking down memory lane, it also cut down on the number of new dances that were taught over the weekend, that way hopefully it will enable us to remember more of the new ones we learnt.

Carmen would have loved this event; I could see her flitting around from room to room and rarely sitting down. I am sure she would have been so proud of Robert and also it would warm her heart to know that she will be remembered through 'Celebrate Dance!', beyond doubt a very fitting and joyous memorial.

GUEST REVIEW

Billy Ray Cyrus I'm American

Buena Vista Records

Every so often, we open the magazine to a guest to review a brand new release.

Benny Ray from Denmark gives us the low down on the brand new CD by one of the most well known names of Line dance, Billy Ray Cyrus....

Twenty years ago, Billy Ray Cyrus burst onto the country scene with his debut album Some Gave All, which featured the Line dance classic Achy Breaky Heart. However, it was the title song Some Gave All that was the most powerful song on the album - and a song that has gone on to become an American anthem. Some Gave All (63 bpm) is a tribute to the troops and now, twenty years later, it has been brilliantly re-recorded featuring Jamey Johnson, Craig Morgan and Darryl Worley to round out an entire album dedicated to the men and women serving in the U.S. Armed Forces.

His new album, I'm American is a set of eight outstanding and emotional songs all centred on the 'American soldier' theme, starting out with the song Runway Lights (106 bpm) about a Navy pilot living his dream but also aching to get home.

We Fought Hard (71 bpm) is a wonderful nightclub rhythm ballad about two brothers fighting side by side all their lives, including overseas in the Gulf war, unfortunately without a happy ending.

Keep The Lights On (115 bpm) is an up-beat rock'n'roll song changing the mood to a positive, about a soldier coming home to his friends and family.

The next song could be considered a modern equivalent of the Johnny Cash classic Ragged Old Flag however with a different spin on it. A beautiful duet with Amy Grant, Stripes And Stars (81 bpm) tells the story of a soldier overseas and his girl at home both finding hope and faith in watching Old Glory flying high.

The title song, I'm American (87 bpm) is another hard hitting rock'n'roll track.

Old Army Hat (93 bpm) is the stand out song on this album, telling the story of an old World War II veteran, as told by his grandson, who learns about the significance of the symbolism in an old Army hat. What a great story!

Another very emotional song is Nineteen (71 bpm), reminding us all about how 9/11 changed all of our lives. In this case, a young boy signing up to join the Marines instead of following his boyhood dreams to join the Tennessee football team.

As mentioned before, the new version of the great classic Some Gave All (63 bpm) rounds out this brilliant album. If you are patriotic at heart and a supporter of not only the U.S. Armed Forces but all those fighting for their country and freedom around the world, then this album is for you. The content is very serious, and all the songs on this album have a very important story to tell, and Billy Ray once again delivers in the best way possible.

C.G.

Michèle Godard from France has the knack of discovering new talent. In this exclusive interview she speaks to Diana Fievet who, with her sister Evelyne and their good friend Belgian choreographer Marlene Duprez, collaborated on one of Mirande's choreography competition winning dances Country Girls...

Country Girls

I met Diana and Evelyne two or three years ago in Mirande. This year the girls won the choreography competition with a terrific dance, Country Girls. A wonderful Improver example, I wanted to find out more about the two youngsters who really love dancing and fun (believe me they ARE fun!). I spoke to Diana.

MG: I think I will start by asking how old you are...

DF: I was born in 1988 and my sister in 1991 in Brussels

MG: Gosh...so young and gifted already. So when did you discover dancing?

DF: I started Country dancing in 2000 and Evelyne in 2005. We both danced at Marlene's Wild Horses Country Dancers club. This was to become a true passion. Since the start, I have always tried never to miss a lesson...my feet itch otherwise. This has led to an extraordinary friendship with Marlene and husband Dany. (Dany is Daniel Steenackers, a well known Belgian DJ). We are in constant contact. I love my own family but I consider them my second 'heart' family.

MG: How far has your dancing progressed since the start?

DF: Quite a lot. Thanks to Marlene and her experience, I have really improved technically. I tried out championships but it was not for me really. I would lose the fun of the moment and I prefer really enjoying myself fully. Evelyne feels the same, that much I do know!

MG: How does Belgium translate in terms of Line dance?

DF: Good but I do go abroad as well. I tend to go to Holland and France as they are quite close to us and I enjoy a very different culture there. We like anywhere where dancers enjoy being on the floor and do not feel that they have to have an attitude. Going abroad for us provides plenty of great events and I have to say that for us both Mirande remains THE number ONE event of our year.

MG: You never miss Mirande and you reckon it is your number one. Why...

DF: I went there for the first time in 2008 then Evelynne followed in 2009. Since then, it has become a must for us both. As soon as it is over, we book for the year after. Any other way would be unthinkable for us. The festival takes us away from our reality, the friends we made four years ago remain friends to this day and it is pure joy. To get up in the morning, think you will meet only people you love and that you are going to have a laugh till the end of the night is the best sensation ever. The last day is never easy and can be quite emotional for us. For many, being a Country fan is also being part of a huge family and that is certainly the case for us!

MG: What has this festival got that others do not?

DF: Truthfully, quality. Concerts with huge names, top choreographers, in other words dance paradise!

MG: What is your style of music? (As if I didn't know)

DF: Country, Country and Country. At least the new style. I always listen to a US Country station and I always make a note of what I like. So I have tens of CD's that I play full pelt when I am driving... love it! I am actually getting to be quite an egghead on new artists and getting to really know my stuff these days. As for Evelynne, because she keeps listening to what I listen to, she knows all the tunes by heart too. She does like them but prefers music she can Line dance to. We both adore Taylor Swift and have even seen her live. WOW! Not enough dances are written to her songs so maybe we will get a chance to change that!

MG: How did you get involved with the choreography competition this year?

DF: It was a snap decision for us. It was something we had never done but we did enjoy the process of writing, so we will continue. Marlene helped us along with her thoughts and it was a fantastic experience. She is the best. Country Girls started out as a fun dance and a gift I guess from us Belgian girls to our French mates. We wanted a sort of union out of it. We wrote it together and emailed it to a few others so they could learn it. We all demo-ed it in Mirande and felt no fear on stage. We just wanted to have fun. And we were so surprised to win. Everyone encouraged us and the experience was terrific.

MG: And since then...

DF: Since then, people like you and Marlene have taught it and it is so strange to see so many dance our steps. If people enjoy it then we have done our best. And to think that we are seeing it printed in Linedancer is the biggest honour we could ever dream of.

MG: How do you choose music for a dance?

DF: We had written a couple for Mirande, A Daddy Too is a nightclub two step, a style we adore. In both cases the music came from my American experience. For Country Girls, when I travelled to the US Luke Bryan was one of the singers who had so impressed me. So I always followed his career and that is when I 'discovered' Country Girl. When I hear a new song I either like it or don't and if I do, I dance it in my head. That is exactly how it worked for this dance. I remember saying to Evelyne "I have some steps for that song..." and she then came up with her own ideas. We are a great team. Then Marlene helped us with the finished product. As for the nightclub two step the steps came easily enough but to write them down was quite another thing.

MG: Do you often go to the USA?

DF: The first time was in 2010 to visit a friend who lives in Southern Carolina. It is the home of Country, it is their thoughts and culture. I went back a few months later and I am going back this year again to Louisiana. This time it is for my studies as I wish to become a teacher in life. One thing for sure I will have a good time. People there love dancing and enjoy Country. Saloons are their versions of bars, they go there after work and dance on the tables just like in the movies. Fab.

MG: Both of you are really good dancers, do you have any other hobbies?

DF: Yes we did some ice skating at four and seven years of age. Evelyne stopped earlier than I as I continued until I was 18. It became too hard with too many competitions and championships. I was quite good but I had to make some choices.

MG: Someone told me you like horses too?

DF: Both of us do. That is something we still do and it is a real thrill.

MG: You live in Brussels... What kind of a city is it?

DF: It is a lively city, lots to do, nightlife, etc.... But it is not really us. When we go out at night the only clubs we like are Country clubs and they are extremely rare in Brussels. So we travel miles!

But our lives are good and full and with Country at its heart we certainly are never bored.

ProDanceFloors

Leaving Lasting Impressions

I've danced all over the world... the dance floor used was second to none! Glen Ball

Ask Sho

Q I want to ask about a post on the message board about warm ups for Line dancers. Classes I go to don't do warm up exercises for Line dancers. Most of the classes I have been to, start with a slow dance to warm us up. Is this okay? Or are you saying that we have to do warm up exercises like they do in aerobics?

Lesley

A Hi Lesley
Warming up serves a whole range of purposes from raising the core body temperature to making sure the muscles and joints are warmed up and ready for action. Another important part of warming up is the psychological aspect. By the time you have warmed up, your mind should be focused on your dancing rather than thinking about other things, work or family issues or things that you need to do later.

If we think about one aspect of warming up, mobilising the joints, then we should be making sure that by the time the warm up is finished all the main joints that are used in Line dancing are mobilised and ready for action. Dancing one slow dance may not reach all the joints that need to be warmed up. Check out the video tips for Line dance teachers on my website (under leisure dance) for ideas for warming up and other tips.

In a Line dance warm up it is essential to mobilise the joints of the feet, legs and hips as these joints are heavily used in Line dancing. Although the upper body for many is not used very much in Line dance (there are exceptions of course) it is still good to basically warm these parts too to encourage full body warm up and increased circulation.

Let's consider the warm up benefits of a few basic steps, heel touches, struts and hitches. Alternate heel touches forward mobilise the ankle joints and work the muscles in the lower legs. Likewise toe and heel struts make good use of the ankles and lower legs. In addition toe struts can also mobilise the joints at the base of the toes, ensuring the toes are placed on the floor before lowering the rest of the foot to the floor. Flexing and extending the joints in this manner also helps to warm up the important, long muscles/ligaments under the foot. Hitches starting low and gradually increasing to full height begin to mobilise and work the hip joints and associated muscles. Further warming up of the hip joints can be encouraged through for example, toe fan actions making sure that the rotating action (turning out/turning in) comes from the hip and not the foot, focusing on the movement of the foot and not the hip is likely to put unwanted pressure on the knee and can lead to aches and pains.

Using specific steps or movements in a warm up ensures that the correct joints are mobilised and warmed up. Changing the warm up to suit what is being taught is vital and with Line dances being so varied these days it is essential not to rely on the same warm up for each session. The warm up needs to specifically, prepare the dancers for what they are going to be dancing and learning at the session. Warming up is one of the aspects of safe dance practice basics that we explore at the 'A Day for Dance Teachers' one day courses. Details of the next one in Glasgow (16 October 2011) are on my website www.decodanz.co.uk.

The Last Line

Did you realise that Line dance is a pastime that is actually breaking the accepted boundaries of society, that opens the padlock of acceptability and generally speaking laughs in the face of convention? No? Well you know now. Let me explain.

Dancers in any other dance genres generally think of themselves as extremely fit, agile, youthful, and part of a select crowd. Most of us accept this and laugh at the Russell Grants and the Ann Widdecombes who try desperately to fit in a world of size 6 and half a grain of rice being your daily allowance for sustenance. Yep, to the rest of us who may not wish to enter a corps de ballet or dance with Strictly's finest pros, the door of dance remains, it seems, firmly shut. But not if you choose to Line dance.

You see. dancers are welcome in Line dance at whatever age, whatever level they may be, whatever fitness they are at. And in some way when a lot of talk goes on about image being detrimental to the genre, it is not always just clothes. It may be that Line dance breaks the mould where "image" is concerned and the world outside, used to seeing ultra glamorous, ultra young dancers, has difficulties in understanding that anyone, at any age, any size is not just allowed but made WELCOME in Line dance circles.

This is not to say Line dancers cannot dance, far from it BUT they do not obey to age, looks or snob conventions.

By not really caring a hoot of what level people can dance or whether they look like super models or not, Line dance is a community that actually embraces every day people. And thus, our doors are always opened, our fun can also be yours, young and old and we are the best friends that can be had on and off a dance floor.

Dancing is an expression of freedom, an expression of yourself but we can't all be pirouetting, doing entre chat, plie jete or perfect rise and falls. Being sniffy about a popular hobby is nothing new. Cinema aficionados have only but contempt for blockbusters, painting experts despise popular artists and food snobs cannot abide home cooked nosh. Well, they can please themselves.

Line dancers break the mould of this very select dance club by opening their arms and hearts to anyone who wants to have a good time. Social dancers are in it for the fun and even if sometimes a grapevine becomes a waddle and a sailor step has all the poise of a real seaman, it matters not. Our dance floors are not for perfection though most dancers try to do their best. Our dance floors are for pure joy of dance and for everyone. And that is why Line dance is different from any other genre. And why it remains of one of the best loved and most popular form of dance the world over.
